REBUFF OF THE ANGLICANS

And Their Hetert Upon the Roman Curis. Examination a Sham. Commenting upon Father Sydney F. Smith's paper on the pope's encyclical on Anglican orders, published in the Contemporary Review, the Church Standard (P. E.) of Philadelphia says: Every successful attempt to defend the Papal condemnation of Anglican orders goes only to confirm us in the bellef. goes only to confirm us in the bellef, which we have held from the first, that the pretended examination of the validity of Anglican orders by the Roman Curia was a sham and a pretence; that it was their predetermined purpose from the beginning to sustain the former action of the Curia and Clergent IX. In 1761; that their own examination of the facts showed the orders of the Church of England to stand 50 clear that every one of the old objections had to be successively abandoned; and that, in order to justify a condomnstion which they were determined to pronounce without regard to fact or truth, they are now nectually compelled to change the doctrine of the Roman Church itself on the whole subject of ministerial intention, as the peach himself expounds it in this very energiest, Eather Smith protests with unction, as others do, that Leo XIII., the sunve, the gracious, the bengmant, the charitable pontiff of the time, could be swayed by motives of policy in the exercise of a judicial function. We must frankly contest that this a priori argument does not seem to us to be overwhelming. Leo XIII. Is before all things else a political, the encyclical Apostolicae Curactives us no exalted opinion of Bigdidical character or capacity; but if he had all the graces that his freinds allere, and more of the temptations of x political pontiff, we cannot forset that the Curia is ever so much stronger than the pope." which we have held from the first, that MORGANTOWN, W. Va., Feb. 7 .-Yesterday afternoon a terrible accident occurred, which for a time threatened to result fatally. Miss Lula Garlow's rereach taking, and the dark are remains have been lying here since Thurstather, who has been on his cattle ranch in Colorado. Mrs. Garlew has been prostrated ever since the death occurred and the doctor advised that she be driven out for the benefit of the air. Accordingly J. Ewing Davis, a prominent attorney, of Chicago, and a former professor of the university, took her out. They drove to the cemetery and selected a lot for the burial of Miss Garlow. This duty performed they drove some distance further up the road. On turning in a narrow place the carriage caught a gas pipe and broke it. The escaping gas frightened the horses and a runaway resulted. The carriage struck several telephone poles and finally struck one squarely, being completely demolished and throwing the occupants out against a fence. Mr. Davis sustained several very bad bruises and cartia and was terribly shaken up.

Mrs. Garlow's shoulder was broken. mains have been lying here since Thurs-

Davis sustained several very compression of the pruises and cuts and was terribily shaken up.

Mrs. Garlow's shoulder was broken, a bad cut on the head, and, it was at first thought, that she had been injured internally. It was some time before she regained consciousness. She is now resting caster and it is thought that she will recover. The funeral of Miss Garlow courred this afternoon and was a notable one. She was a graduate of Beaver college, Pa., West Virginia University and would have graduated at Bryn Mawr in June, taking Ph. D. She was lying in one room and her mother in an adjoining one too ill to move. The family is very weathly and prominent, and the calamities which have so suddenly befallen them is causing great sorrow.

The overwhelming proportions of the transactions on the stock exchange today were in the industrial stocks with Sugar far in the lead in point of activity. Many factors combined to depress this group of stocks, and the narrow limits of transactions in the general list made it easily subject to the depressing influences of the leaders with the consequence that the course of the market was sharply downward during the day, with a marked rally towards the close. The situation in the industrials continues much the same as for some time past, all being depressed by the proceedings in this city of the legislative committee, which is now investigation the sugar company, with a further investigation of other companies still in prospect. Sugar, as being immediately the subject of investigation and as being open to other unfavorable conditions, was, in the van of the downward movement, which began with the opening and after a period of apathy continued in a manner resembling partial demovement, which began with the opening and after a period of apathy continued in a manner resembling partial demovement, which began with the opening and after a period of apathy continued in a manner resembling partial demovement, which began with the opening and after a period of apathy continued in a manner resembling partial demovement, the industrials in marked by the subject of the stock of support for the yielding market and the decline was practically unopposed. CHICAGO.—Wheat to-day closed at about 'ge decline, after having sold nearly a cent above Saturday's close. Figures on the world's visible supply cut quite a «gure in the day's specula-tion, corn and oats were radically weak.

The news that traders in wheat had to start their operations was not very encouraging for a built market. Liverpool was only %d higher at the opening than it closed Saturday, which was disappointing, inasmuch as it was a very inadequate response in Saturday's 1%c advance here. Beerbohm's report of the world's clearances of wheat and flour for the last week, which came in before the opening gave the figures as 6,500 000 bushels and the heavy increase thus shown had a marked effect. Minneapolis and Duluth receipts were not encourage.

one business and the heavy increase thus shown had a marked effect. Minneapolis and Duluth receipts were not encouraging by any means, the total for the two places being 511 cars against 421 last week, and 655 on the corresponding day of the year before.

These were the conditions under which May wheat, which closed at 750 on Saturday, opened to-day with sellers at from 76%c down to 76%c. But the market became strong immediately after the opening. The early figures on the world's visible supply indicated a very large decrease, so large, in fact, that it made shorts scramble to cover their lines. Holders of wheat were not disposed to let go, the consequence being that the price of May got up to 77% before any material reaction occurred. Meantime local port clearances were reported at 455,090 bushels. A decline to $75,6,56% queuered, when an increase in the English visible supply was announced, but this was quickly succeeded by the advance to 77%c, the high point of the day, which occurred on the posting of the world's visible figures showing a total decrease of 1,799,000 bushels. Then the decline commenced, slowly at first, but gaining momentum as the session drew to a close. It was due almost entirely to realizing, though this was undoubtedly accelerated by the world's shipments, which last week were 1,500 bushels larger than the week before. New York reported that foreigners had turned free sellera there, May finally got down to 76%c and closed at 79%c and closed at 79% eigners had turned free seilers there, May finally got down to 75½ cand closed at 76½ 676%c.

Corn maintained its price well until the closing drop in wheat, but during the progress of the latter if emulated wheat's weakness and closed at a decline for the day of ½c per bushel in May, Receiving houses were active sellers. The visible supply increased 1,334,000 bushels. May opened a shade lower at 24½, sold at 24½ 673%c and decimed to 23% 672¢c, where it closed. Oats were quiet during the first-part of the session, but with a tendency toward firmness. Later, however, the market westery weak, partially through sympathy with wheat and partly through liberal selling by the professional shorts. A heavy bushess was done at the decline, May opened a shade lower at 17½c, establishing a low point for the crop. The market closed at 17½c, establishing a low point for the crop.
